Post-merger uncertainties weigh on share price; Accumulate shares at low-end of boxed range

We maintain a BUY rating on Woongjin Coway and raise the target price by 5% to KRW105,000. PMI (post-merger integration) process has been underway since Woongjin's acquisition of Coway. While Coway's previous largest shareholder (PEF) focused on profit margins and earnings stability, Woongjin is anticipated to seek enterprise value growth via top-line expansion. Woongjin Coway's share price has recently been dampened by uncertainties over its post-merger management direction, but the company's differentiated competitiveness (R&D and services) and earnings stability will not be undermined. We believe Woongjin Coway's downside potential is limited, considering its current share price (2019 PER of 16x) and 2019E dividend yield of 4.1%. Investors are advised to accumulate the shares when the share price hits the low-end of the historical valuation band.

1Q19 OR up 10% YoY and OP up 3% YoY; New rental income rose 8% YoY thanks to brisk air purifier sales

Woongjin Coway turned in 1Q19 consolidated OR of KRW709.3bn (+10% YoY) and OP of KRW135.2bn (+3% YoY). OP hit a quarterly all-time high, satisfying both market consensus and our estimate. 1) The domestic rental business's OR rose 2% YoY, while the financial lease business' OR surged 46% YoY. Woongjin Coway's new rental sales reached 408,000 accounts (+8% YoY) thanks to robust air purifier sales (+33% YoY), while its contract cancellation rate remained stable at 1.01%. Accordingly, rental accounts net grew by 120,000. 2) Lump-sum sales climbed 4% YoY as new air purifier sales soared 88% YoY. 3) Four overseas wellness home appliance subsidiaries turned in combined OR of KRW132.9bn (+59% YoY) and OP of KRW190.1bn (+117% YoY). The Malaysian subsidiary achieved a 71% increase in OR and 8%p improvement in OPM.
